

Meet Kryan

Hey! My name is Kryan (pronounced 'cryin') Dublin-based singer/songwriter 'Kryan' first garnered attention when he released his debut single "Alone" in August of 2018. Kryan would later return with "Rumours" in 2019. After taking the first half of 2020 off to rebrand his sound/image, 'Kryan' made a return with "I Always Knew", produced by David Morys Prendergast (Kodaline, Overhead The Albatross) with a new confidence and a determination that could conquer the world, twice over. New single "Scars" out November 20, 2020.

Click to read about some of my other works:

Jordo and 'The Legs' ▾

Irish tap dancer Ryan "The Legs" Kelly and Jordan O'Leary, guitarist of Dublins heavy acoustic act "The Scratch" started busking together on Grafton Street in the Summer of 2019. The act quickly and consistently managed to gather large crowds on the streets, as well as multiple viral videos, some of which reaching up to 20 Million views on Facebook and YouTube. They have gotten nods of respect from the likes of Riverdance legend and composer Bill Whelan and Hollywood's Irish Chris O'Dowd. They have been a source of joy for many shoppers and locals on Grafton street, both young and old. Their show consists of old Irish reels and jigs, played with furious speed on the guitar while Ryan and his legs go 90 in intermittent bursts of pure raw power, with plenty of craic and crowd pleasing interaction thrown in along the way.

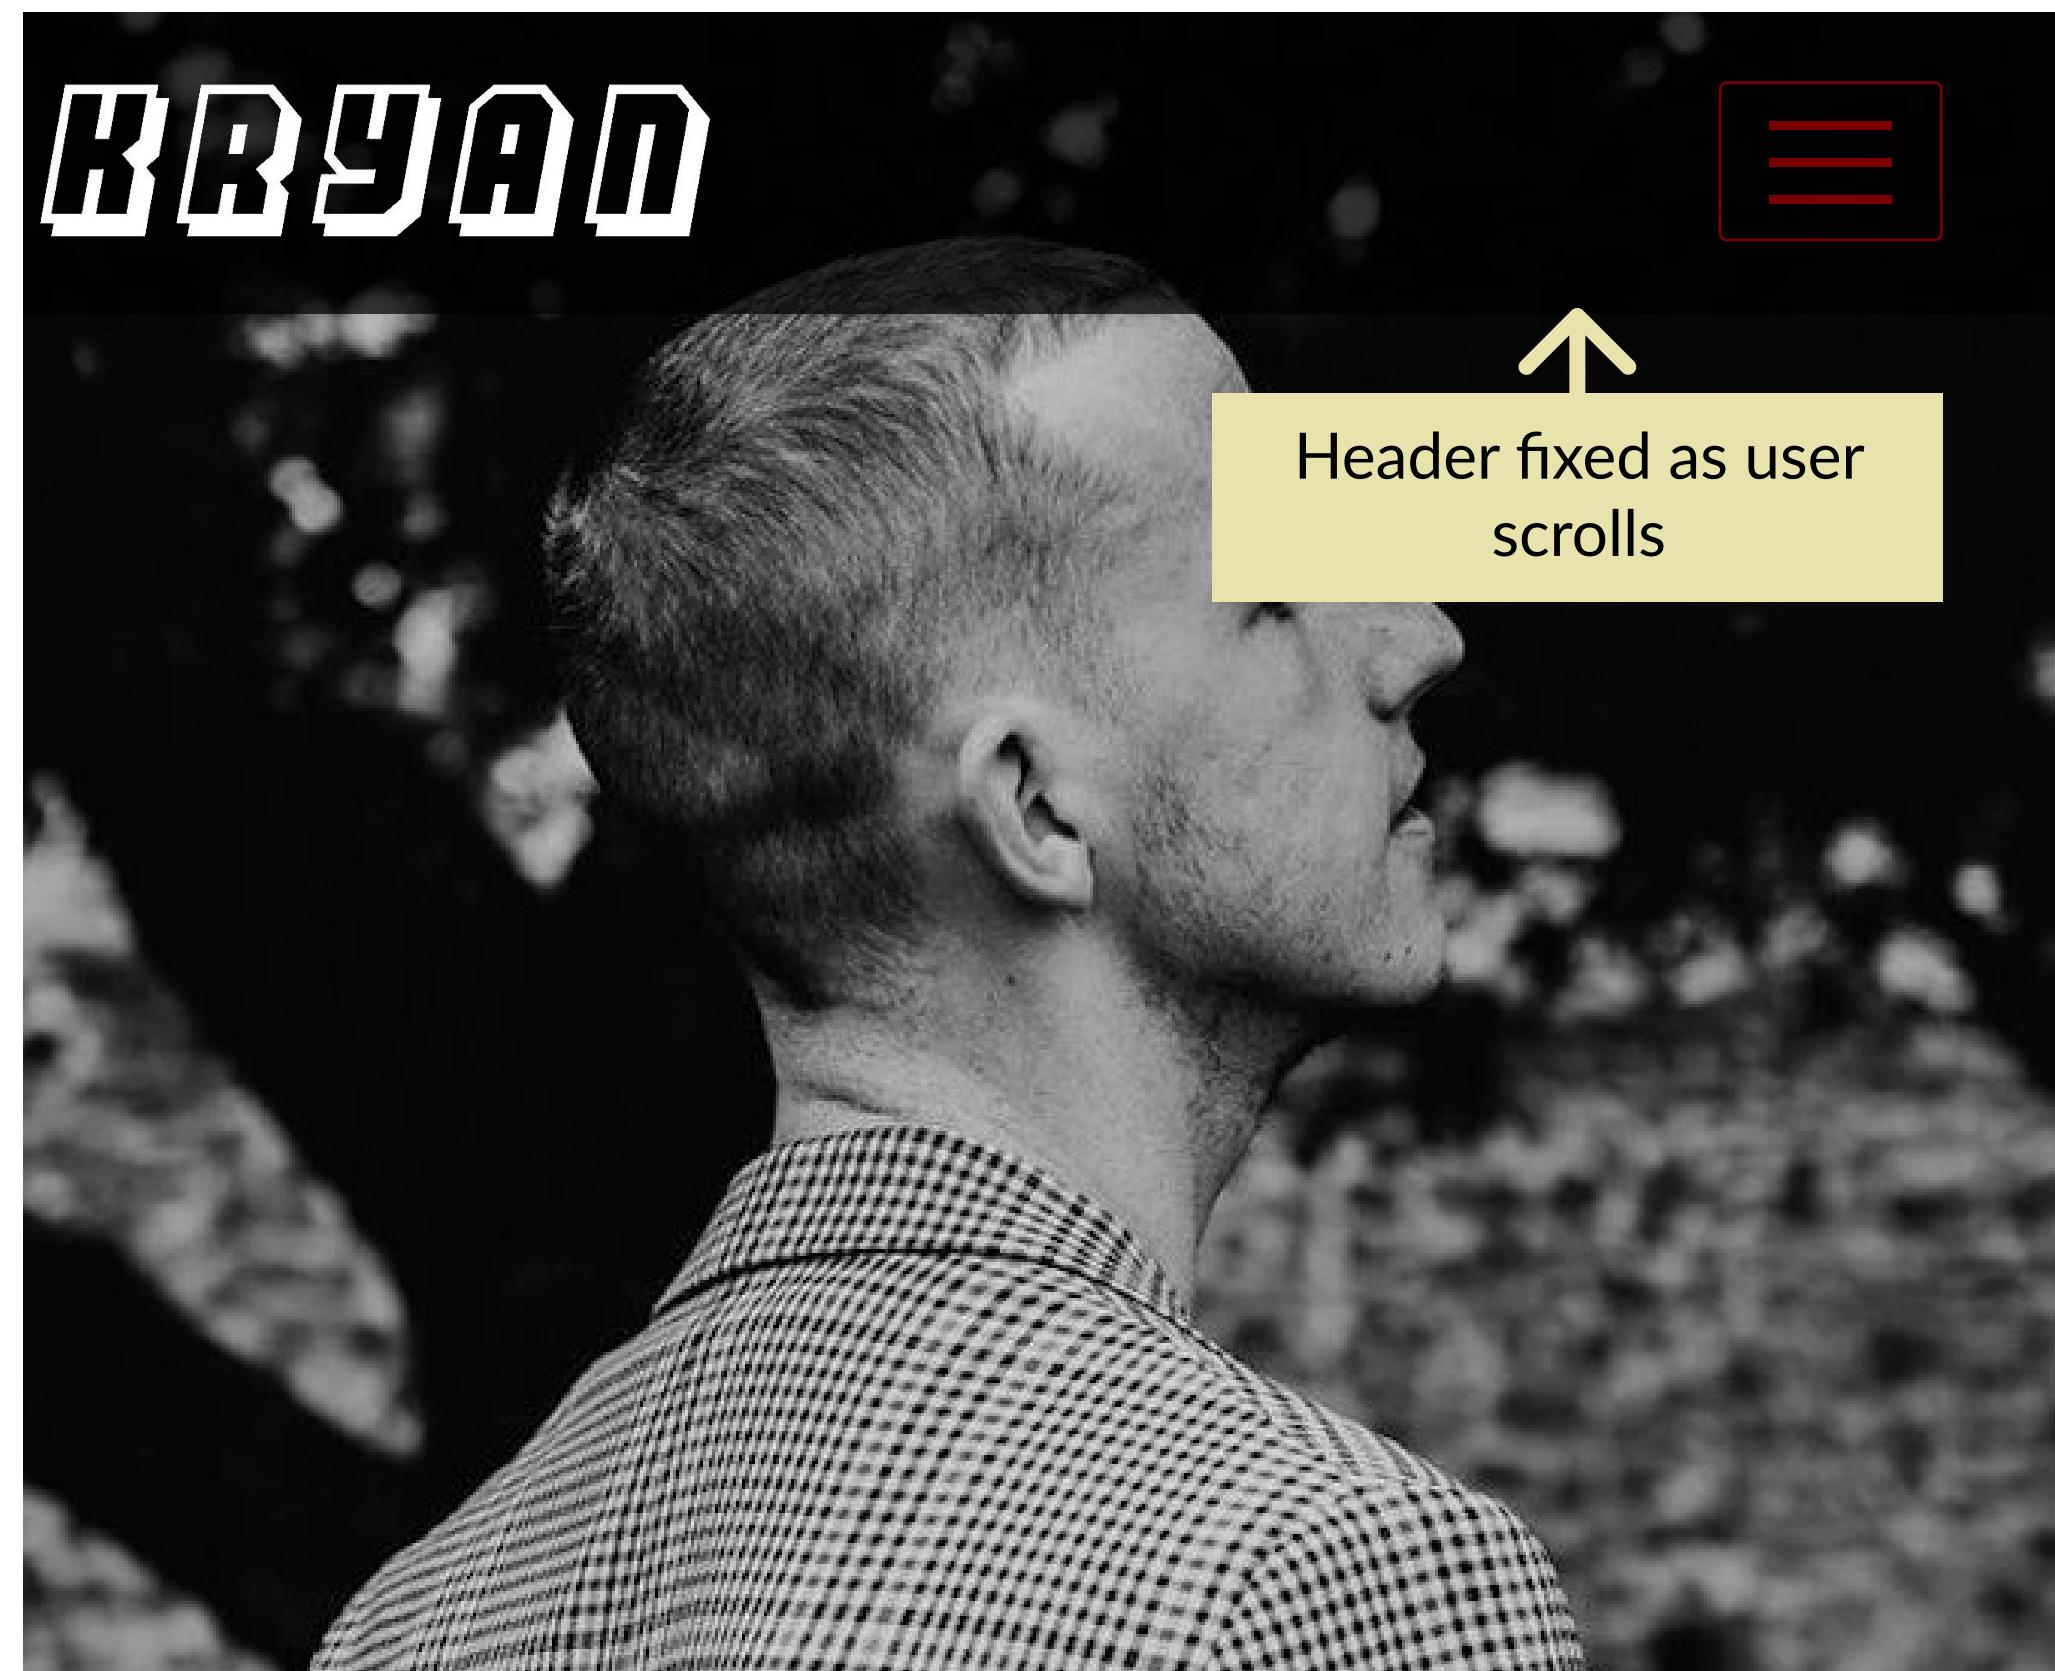

The Scratch ▾

The Hit Machine Drummers ▾

Clicking on each will reveal an accordion menu that will automatically minimise on next click

Footer stays fixed on scroll

Header fixed as user scrolls

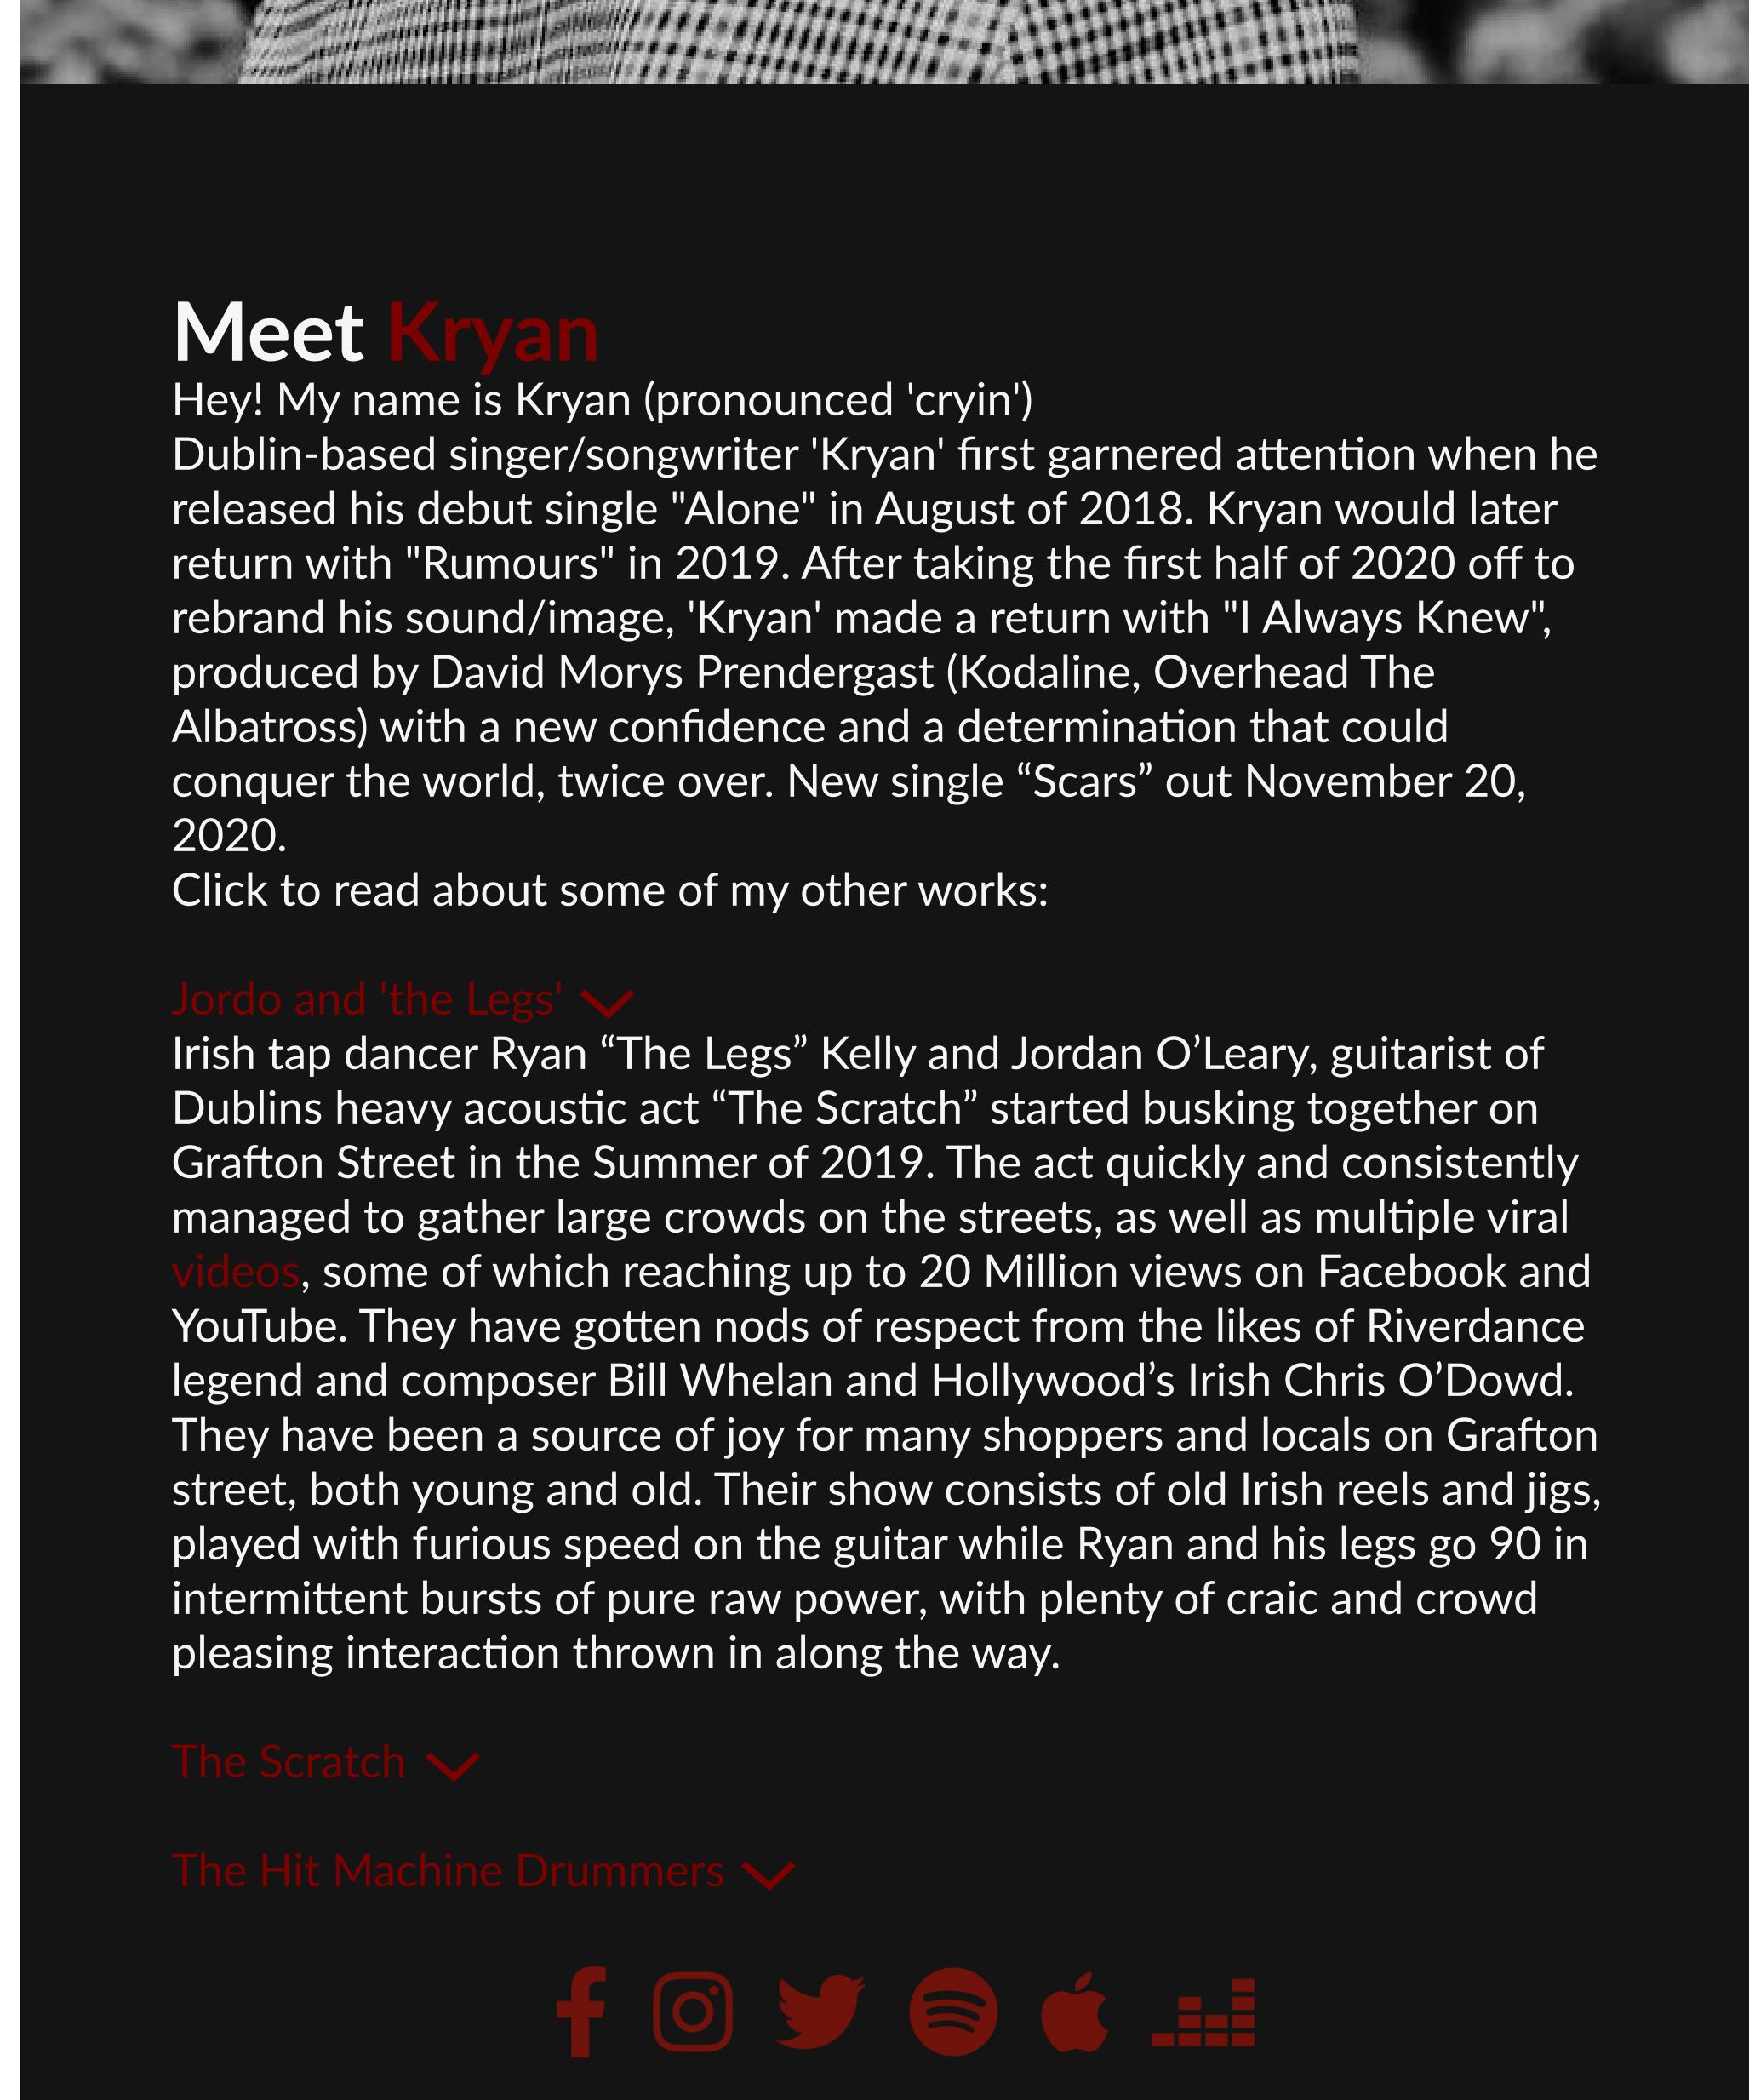

Meet Kryan
Hey! My name is Kryan (pronounced 'cryin') Dublin-based singer/songwriter 'Kryan' first garnered attention when he released his debut single "Alone" in August of 2018. Kryan would later return with "Rumours" in 2019. After taking the first half of 2020 off to rebrand his sound/image, 'Kryan' made a return with "I Always Knew", produced by David Morys Prendergast (Kodaline, Overhead The Albatross) with a new confidence and a determination that could conquer the world, twice over. New single "Scars" out November 20, 2020. Click to read about some of my other works:

Jordo and 'The Legs' ▾
Irish tap dancer Ryan "The Legs" Kelly and Jordan O'Leary, guitarist of Dublins heavy acoustic act "The Scratch" started busking together on Grafton Street in the Summer of 2019. The act quickly and consistently managed to gather large crowds on the streets, as well as multiple viral videos, some of which reaching up to 20 Million views on Facebook and YouTube. They have gotten nods of respect from the likes of Riverdance legend and composer Bill Whelan and Hollywood's Irish Chris O'Dowd. They have been a source of joy for many shoppers and locals on Grafton street, both young and old. Their show consists of old Irish reels and jigs, played with furious speed on the guitar while Ryan and his legs go 90 in intermittent bursts of pure raw power, with plenty of craic and crowd pleasing interaction thrown in along the way.

The Scratch ▾

The Hit Machine Drummers ▾

Footer stays fixed on scroll